UX Design

Life is too short to be annoyed by bad software. We are convinced that a positive user experience is the basis of successful software. To ensure this, our team accompanies you through the entire UX design process of a digital user interface - from the UX analysis and UX conception to the design of an attractive visual design, the construction of a design system and the frontend development.

All services are carried out by our permanent experts. Everything from a single source for a smooth process. In addition, you always have an experienced contact person from Shapefield at your side. Of course, you can also commission us for individual phases or UX methods. After a free initial consultation, we plan the collaboration with you individually.

Frontend-Entwicklung

Only a skillful technical implementation ensures that an outstanding UX design really reaches the user. We don't just scratch the surface, but implement modern UIs that are faithful to the representation, performant and maintainable. Our technological focus is on .NET, WPF, Angular, Vue, Svelte, Flutter and Qt, among others.

Based on a UX Design or Design system, we are happy to implement all controls, templates, views, layouts, custom controls and UI components as a reusable, individual control library. Each control is implemented exactly according to the design specifications. Your developers receive the complete control library including source code and all logic. This way we ensure that every development team uses the same controls consistently.
